987 Is Noontime Count

Voting Is Extremely Light This Morning

Voting was extremely light here today, with only 987 ballots reported cast in the city's 23 precincts by noon.

The figure was 311 under the 1,298 votes counted by midday in the last comparable municipal election in 1961. The morning tally two years ago, however, set a record.

One hundred three votes were cast in the five Perry Township precincts this morning compared with 139 tabulated in 1961.

The intermittent drizzle today probably contributed to the light turnout.

Highlighting the local races is the mayoralty contest between Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, Democrat seeking his fifth non-consecutive term, and Nathan Harris, a printer making his initial bid for political office.

In addition to the municipal government contests, local voters today will decide a six-way race for three seats of the Board of Education.

They also are balloting on three Columbiana County levies and a state capital improvements bond issue.

The morning vote by precincts today and at the last two municipal elections follows.

Three additional precincts were created here since the 1959 election, accounting for the gaps in the column for that year.

German Scientist Shares Award

Nobel Prize Won By Two Americans

STOCKHOLM (AP) — An American scientist today became the first woman to win a Nobel Prize in physics in 60 years. She will share the prize with a second U.S. scientist and a West German.

Winding up the 1963 Nobel awards, a West German scientist and one from Italy were named to share the prize in chemistry.

The Swedish Royal Academy of Science announced these winners of the physics and chemistry prizes, each worth $51,158; Physics:

Mrs. Maria Goeppert-Mayer of the University of California and J. Hans D. Jensen of Heidelberg for their work in determining the nature of the shell of the atom's nucleus. She is the first woman residing in America to win a Nobel physics prize and the first to be named since Marie Curie of France shared the prize in 1903.

Eugene Wigner of Princeton University, who helped to lay the groundwork for the present advance study of nuclear physics. Wigner will get half the prize. Mrs. Goeppert-Mayer and Jensen will divide the other half.

Chemistry: Prof. Karl Ziegler of West Germany and Prof. Giulio Natta of Italy for their work with molecules that has helped to speed the development of useful plastics.

The award money comes from a $9-million bequest by the late Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite, who directed that the

Boring to Free Miners at Critical Stage

BROISTEDT, Germany (AP) — Boring of a shaft to rescue 11 men trapped since Oct. 21 in a flooded iron mine entered the crucial stage today.

"Let's keep our fingers crossed that everything goes okay," said Rudolf Stein, manager of the mine in which the men are imprisoned 196 feet below the surface.

With 60 feet to go, drilling was halted while workmen lined the shaft with concrete. A seven-inch supply shaft was being drilled alongside the rescue hole. Beams and aluminum bars were to be sent through it so the men could brace the ceiling of the abandoned gallery in which they took refuge when the mine was flooded.

Forty-three men were trapped in the mine when a nearby dam broke. Eighty-six escaped when the flood hit, and three others were rescued last Friday.

Thirty men had been given up for dead but a test boring located 11 of them Sunday. This fired rescuers to bore at two other points in hopes of finding the 19 miners still missing.

If all goes well, the rescue may be completed Wednesday. "The men are not too excited and they have told us that they are confident of being rescued," said Dr. Heinrich Kellner, a physician in touch with the trapped men.

One of the two exploratory borings broke through to an air bubble 240 feet below late Monday night. After exhaustive checks, mine officials announced that there was no life in the pocket.

Completion of the other test boring was expected today, but a mine spokesman said: "We have the smallest hopes of finding survivors there."

'Suicide' Tape Introduced In Domer Trial

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — A tape recording in which Robert K. Domer, charged with first-degree murder in the death of an Akron fruit peddler, spoke of "removing himself from the scene" has been introduced into evidence at Domer's trial.

The tape was played in the courtroom Monday as the prosecution attempted to support its contention that Domer committed murder in such a way as to make it appear he had taken his own life. The state alleges it was part of a plan by Domer, who had dropped out of sight before the peddler's body was found, to make some $288,000 in insurance available to Domer's beneficiaries.

U.S. Prepares Supply Line for Halted Convoy

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP) — The U.S. Army began assembling a supply line today for 44 men in a 12-vehicle military convoy bottled up by Soviet armored cars at the Marienborn checkpoint into East Germany.

In West Berlin, 15 trucks and water tankers were ready to roll on a 110-mile trip over the autobahn through East German territory to Marienborn. A second U.S. military convoy of 4 trucks, 2 trailers and 56 men stood on the western side of Marienborn, presumably in reserve.

Halted Monday Morning

The 44-man convoy was halted Monday morning. It failed in an attempt to break through early this morning when the Russians parked three armored personnel carriers pulled up behind the convoy and boxed it in. Then, as a heavy rain fell, a lone Soviet soldier sat in the open at a heavy machine gun pointing diagonally across the road.

Early this afternoon, a U.S. Army sedan drove through the barriers with supplies for the stranded convoy. The sedan was cheered by a group of West German children visiting the Iron Curtain as part of their school program.

Morale Reported High

The Americans had a hot breakfast at 6 a.m. and their morale was reported high.

In Bonn, the West German government was brought into a conference of the U.S., British and French ambassadors. Up to now, incidents involving military convoys had been considered matters concerning only the Soviet Union and the three Western Allies. In London, the British government announced its full support of the U.S. action in refusing to give in to Soviet demands for a head-counting of Army men in small convoys. A West German government statement called the blockade a "serious provocation."

The blockade—the fourth involving Allied convoys in less than a month — caused grave concern in Washington.

Again it centered on the issue of who is to make the rules for Allied military convoys travel on the autobahn. The Russians demanded a head count of U.S. soldiers on the vehicles, and the Americans refused.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk summoned Georgi M. Kornienko, acting Soviet charge d'affaires in Washington, Monday and demanded the convoy be released. Informants said Kornienko explained he had no word from his government on the incident.

The U.S. Army's Berlin garrison postponed a training exercise scheduled to start Monday for 24 hours. The Army insisted the troops were not placed on the alert, but Army officials presumably felt it was wiser to keep the men in their barracks in readiness.

U.S. officials in Washington at first minimized the incident but later one high official said it had taken on "serious dimensions."

"Intensive consultations" between the United States, Britain and France were reported. The official said that the longer the blockade lasts, the graver the danger of a serious confrontation becomes.

The convoy was stopped at 8:01 a.m. Monday after the Soviet officer in charge of the checkpoint, a Lt. Col. Spiridonov, demanded that 15 passengers in three of the trucks dismount and be counted.

The convoy commander, Lt. John Lamb of North Augusta, N.C., refused, in accordance with an Allied statement sent to the Russians Oct. 29 regarding procedures Allied convoys will follow when traveling to and from Berlin.

The Allies reportedly told the Russians then that if more than 30 troop passengers were carried, they would dismount to facilitate processing by Soviet officers. Lamb said only 20 of the 44 troops were passengers.

The Allies in their Oct. 29 statement also made clear they were relinquishing none of their rights to unrestricted access to and from Berlin. But Spiridonov told Lamb that only Soviet authorities have the right to determine processing procedures for convoys.

The men in the halted convoy are members of the 2nd Battalion, 6th Infantry, returning to their unit in West Berlin after a training exercise in West Germany.

7 Trapped 21 Hours In Snowbound Car

EAST PORTAL, Colo. (AP) — Death brushed three women and four children before they were rescued Monday from their snowbound car in which they were trapped for 21 hours.

Help came after the children's father, Hans Farwig, 29, struggled through waist-deep snowdrifts at the start of an arduous 10-mile hike to a railroad where he stopped a passing freight train.

Farwig's station wagon stalled Sunday afternoon in snow near the summit of the 11,500-foot Corona Pass, formerly a railroad track bed. The road is not maintained in the winter.

Farwig, a Denver auto dealer, had taken the group on the 45-mile motor trip from Denver, intending to drive over the pass to Winter Park.

With him were his wife, Corina, 22; their children, Janet, 6, Sonia, 5, Yojana, 3, and James, 2; Mrs. Farwig's mother, Mrs. Mari Lopez, 58; and Rosario Pradel, 41, a family friend.

After the car stalled, the adults alternated at staying awake during the night and running the automobile's heater for short periods. Overnight temperatures were below zero.

Shortly after 7 a.m., Farwig left the car, which had been almost covered by high winds blowing snow over it, in search for help.

Hanoverton Curfew Plan Turned Down

HANOVERTON — The much-discussed proposed curfew ordinance was rejected when Village Council met Monday night.

Brought to a vote last night, the measure lost when only three of the five councilmen present voted favorably. It needed four to pass. Councilman William McGranahan was absent.

Reports were made that new tile has been placed in the east end of Route 30, a drain line has been installed on Carroll St. and tree stumps have been removed on Canal St. following removal of trees there.

Six Marine Locust trees will be planted to replace those removed.

A fence has been erected between the playground and property of Roy Painter on School St. A swing is in the process of being built on the playground.

Gerald Foster of Minerva, representing the Ohio Fuel Gas Company, informed council that the fuel cost clause will be raised two cents per 1,000 cubic feet, effective Dec. 1.

It was voted to $200 from the budget for new Christmas lights for village streets.

In other business, a building permit was issued to Harold McGee for a new garage. It was reported that the roof on the mayor's office has been repaired.

Bills totaling 493 were paid.

U.S. Gives Up Diem's Brother

Had Sought Asylum In U.S. Embassy

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Ngo Dinh Can, boss of central Viet Nam in the regime of his brother, President Ngo Dinh Diem, was turned over to South Viet Nam's new revolutionary government today after he sought asylum at the U.S. consulate at Hue.

U.S. officials were understood to have received assurances from revolutionary officials that Can "would not be lynched and would receive the due process of law."

Diem and another brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, his closest adviser, were captured by the rebels Saturday. The revolutionary government said they committed suicide, but reports have been widespread in Saigon that they were assassinated.

Mass Grave Found

Unconfirmed reports circulated in Hue, capital of central Viet Nam, that 180 bodies had been found in a mass grave at Can's mansion there.

Responsible Vietnamese officials said rows of filthy dungeons were found in an old French arsenal on property owned by Can just south of Hue.

Mobs on Monday sacked and destroyed the home Can was building there.

Buddhist leaders, students and others in Hue long have charged that Can ruled his bailiwick as a bloody tyrant.

Can, who dropped from sight when the coup overthrew Diem's regime last weekend, reportedly went to the U.S. consulate in Hue Monday night and asked for refuge. Consular officials notified the revolutionary government.

Late this afternoon Can was flown 400 miles south to Saigon in a U.S. military plane and turned over to officials of the new government.

Junta Names Premier

The military junta Monday night named former Vice President Nguyen Ngoc Tho to be premier of a new provisional government that will govern South Viet Nam under the watchful supervision of the military leaders.

Recognition by the United States was expected.

Blockade Eyed by U.S. With Concern

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russian blockade of a U.S. Army convoy on the road to Berlin is viewed here today with more concern as each hour passes. U.S. officials expressed fear it could grow into a serious confrontation.

Earlier, officials stressed that the incident was not causing too much concern.

The convoy, delayed since Monday at the autobahn checkpoint, tried at midnight to break through to West Berlin but was cut off by five Soviet armored personnel carriers and sedans.

The situation has taken "serious dimensions," said a high-ranking official in Washington, and he revealed that "intensive consultations" were under way between the United States, Great Britain and France.

When two American convoys were suddenly stopped by the Russians last month — jarring the cold war truce that followed negotiation of the limited nuclear test ban treaty—many U.S. officials blamed the incidents on a "local misunderstanding."

Then and now, the question was over Russian demands that the troops in the convoy dismount and be counted before passing through the checkpoint on the autobahn which links Berlin with West Germany.

So there would be no future misunderstandings, the United States spelled out for Moscow its policy on the matter, administration officials said.

Washington informed the Kremlin that if a convoy carried more than 30 passengers—excluding drivers and co-drivers—it would allow the passengers to be counted—but not if there were fewer than 30 passengers.

This, the Western Powers told Russia, had been the practice since the Soviets began taking head counts in 1961.

The Russian reaction was slow in coming but it came Monday when a Soviet officer at the checkpoint warned that the Russians, not the Western Allies, will write the rules for the

Columbiana Woman Hurt In Collision

Maude E. Thorpe, 82, of RD 1, Columbiana, was slightly hurt when the car in which she was riding collided with another auto Monday at 4:15 p.m. at the intersection of the New Buffalo Rd. and Routes 14 and 46.

She suffered contusions of the chin but did not require treatment.

The elderly woman was a passenger in a car operated by Vincent Basinger, 81, of 21 Duquesne St., Columbiana, which struck a car driven by Edward R. Carter, 25, of Albion, Pa.

The Canfield post of the State Highway Patrol said Basinger was westbound on New Buffalo Rd. when he pulled into the path of Carter's northbound auto. Basinger was cited for fail-

Brown Making Election Checks

Indications Point To Light Ohio Vote

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown dispatched observers to possible trouble spots in today's election.

Requests for a check on voting came from the counties of Cuyahoga, Jefferson and Adams.

Lawrence County asked for a check on the larger number of absent voter ballots cast, and Brown said he would look into the situation after the election.

The secretary of state said all indications point to light voting over the state despite special interest in some contests for municipal, township and school board posts.

He expected a turnout of some 2.6 million voters, about the same as in the previous odd-year election two years ago.

The only statewide voting was on Issue No. 1—a proposed $250 million bond issue for education, conservation, research and development facilities.

About 1,500 local bond issues, tax levies and questions also were up for decision.

The big bond issue proposal marked the 89th time Ohioans have been asked to consider amendments to the state constitution in the last 50 years, Brown said.

Voters approved 46 of the proposals, records showed.

Since the Constitutional Convention of 1912, Ohio voters have adopted 9 amendments and rejected 22 placed on ballots by initiative petition. The most recent was a Sunday sales amendment last year.

During the same period, voters adopted 37 and rejected 20 amendments submitted by the legislature, which placed the $250 million bond issue on the ballot.

Brown assigned three field men to the Cleveland area with orders to pay particular attention to voting in that city's 17th and 26th wards and in suburban Seven Hills. They were Donald Kendziora, Thomas Crisafi and George Braden.

Driver Injured As Car Skids In Rain

Anthony John Perisi, 41, of Lorain was treated and released at Salem Central Clinic at 8:45 a.m. today for abrasions and contusions of the elbow and chin and a sprain of the left shoulder which resulted from a one-car accident on Route 14, one mile east of North Benton.

Perisi was driving southeast when he lost control of his vehicle on the rain-slick road. The car hit a cement culvert, a telephone pole and fence posts.

Mahoning County Deputy Sheriff Arthur Eells investigated.

After Reunion With Children

Mrs. Nhu Considers Returning To U.S.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An aide says Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, heartened by a number of sympathetic messages from Americans, is considering returning to the United States after a reunion with her three younger children in Rome.

Mrs. Nhu, originally scheduled to leave today for Rome, postponed her trip 24 hours in order to receive telephonic assurances that her children are in Rome before she leaves the United States.

More than 3,000 telegrams and messages have poured into Mrs. Nhu's hotel suite since the military coup Friday which overthrew the regime of her brother-in-law, Ngo Dinh Diem, the aide said.

Most of the messages were sympathetic, he added.

Col. William K. Eliscu of New York City, a former Secret Service officer who has accompanied Mrs. Nhu on her U.S. tour, said many of the messages mentioned her personal loss while others supported her anti-Communist stand.

Mrs. Nhu's husband, Ngo Dinh Nhu, Diem's political adviser, was killed in the coup—or committed suicide—along with his brother.

Mrs. Nhu had feared her three younger children, ages 15, 11, and 4 had been killed in the bombardment of the presidential palace.

But the new Vietnamese government, through the U.S. State Department, informed Mrs. Nhu her children were safe.

Mrs. Nhu disclosed Monday the contents of a telegram she had sent Secretary of State Dean Rusk the day before asking that she be permitted to return to Saigon to take care of her husband and her three children. As an alternative she suggested that the State Department send the children to Rome via Los Angeles.

Instead, Mrs. Nhu received a telegram from the State Department late Monday telling her the children were being flown to Rome, via Bangkok, Thailand.

Mrs. Nhu had one important guest at her suite Monday—her father.

It was the first meeting between Mrs. Nhu and Tran Van Chuong, 65, since she arrived in the United States.

The father, former Vietnamese ambassador to the U.S., and daughter had long been at odds over authoritarian policies of the Ngo Dinh ruling family.

After spending approximately 45 minutes with his daughter, Tran Van Chong said: "There was no need of reconciliation because as soon as I learned the tragic events my heart was very near my daughter."

He declined to say who contacted whom first.

Can't Get Along With Police, Boxer Is Fined, Jailed

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—An inability to get along with policemen has cost an amateur boxer a $100 fine and a six-month jail sentence.

Ted Gullick, 18, of Youngstown was sentenced Monday by Municipal Court Judge Don L. Hanni as a result of his involvement in a mob disturbance Thursday night in which two policemen were beaten.

The penalty was for violating terms of probation in a previous case.

Police accused Gullick of starting a disturbance after a football game which resulted in patrolman Edward Mika, 37, and John Updegraff, 41, being beaten. Updegraff fired several shots from his service revolver during the melee, and one shot hit Gullick in the shoulder.

Gullick had been given a suspended sentence by Judge Hanni last August for attacking a special policeman at a roller skating rink.

Brown Has Eye on Another Office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today he has his eye on another office, possibly Ohio congressman-at-large on the Republican ticket next year.

"I will have something to say on it tomorrow (Wednesday)," he told newsmen.

Brown declined to elaborate. But he said he has been thinking about running for another office "for some time."

He now is in his 13th year as secretary of state. His current four-year term expires in 1966.

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Monday awarded a $300 slag grant to Salem Township trustees and paid East Liverpool $8.50 and Wells-ville $45 for dogs destroyed by the two cities during October.

The commissioners also made a visit to the County Home. Their next meeting will be Thursday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

THAT GOLDEN GATE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Why isn't the famed Golden Gate Bridge painted golden?

James Adam, bridge district manager, gave this explanation: "Gold paint has been tried on parts of the bridge.

"And every once in a while some aggressive paint salesman wants to put a gold finish on the big span.

"But we have been of the opinion for years that it hasn't held up well under wind, sun, rain and fog."

The bridge district's building and operating committee approved Adam's recommendation that the bridge's existing deep orange color, known as international red, be retained.

Declaration by Rocky Expected

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York is expected to formally declare Thursday that he is a candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Informed sources say only an unforeseen development could force him to postpone the announcement. But in case of postponement, an alternate date —probably Nov. 12 — is being kept open.

Rockefeller's long - expected announcement will be made in Albany.

Rockefeller backers in New Hampshire announced Monday they would open a Rockefeller-for-president headquarters in Concord, the state's capital, Friday. New Hampshire will hold the first of 1964's presidential preference primaries March 10. Rockefeller is expected to enter it.

Well - posted sources said Thursday was chosen for the formal announcement of candidacy in the hope it would win prominence in newspapers and broadcasts.

It was pointed out, however, that if there were signs that public interest might be monopolized Thursday by national or international developments, the announcement could be postponed.

Man Indicted In Cleveland Slaying

CLEVELAND (AP)—The state hopes to bring John Vanatta, 36, to trial on a first-degree murder charge next month for the bludgeoning slaying of wealthy jeweler Richard Richards.

Vanatta, a former partner of Richards in a motel operation, was indicted by the Cuyahoga County grand jury Monday after it had heard seven witnesses.

Less than an hour later, Common Pleas Court Judge William J. McDermott revoked the $100,000 bond against Vanatta and ordered him held without bond. Attorneys for Vanatta had sought at a hearing to have the bond reduced.

Judge McDermott said he would schedule a murder trial within 30 days of Vanatta's arraignment, which is expected later in the week.

Richards was killed Oct. 5 and his body found stuffed in the trunk of his rented car in suburban Berea two days later.

Youth, 18, Jailed on Contributing Charge

LISBON — Ronald Lee Adkins, 18, of East Liverpool was sentenced Monday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin to six months in the county jail on charges of contributing to the delinquency of three East Liverpool boys aged 15-17.

The charge stemmed from the theft of an auto and a beer drinking party at the home of one of the juveniles Saturday evening.

Adkins and a 15 - year - old were apprehended by Wells-ville police after they crashed the car stolen from Edward B. Martin, East Liverpool, into a parked auto owned by Leo Montross of Johnsonburg, Pa., while it was parked in Wells-ville.

The other two boys involved in the incident were cited to juvenile court Monday but all were allowed to plead not guilty when parents of two of the youths failed to appear for their hearing.

The juveniles' trial will be held Nov. 18 at 2 p.m. before Judge Tobin. All the youths are presently on probation to James Miller, juvenile officer, for other offenses.

ROGERS — Robert Whitacre of Highland Ave. was appointed Monday night to fill a vacant council seat, empty for three months following the resignation of Sidney Cowan Sr., now village marshal.

The appointment was made by Mayor Robert McCreary at the regular council meeting. Whitacre is married and the father of three small sons.

Larry Phillips, a representative of the Muni-Quip Corp. of Pittsburgh, reported on costs of street signs which have been proposed for the village, but council tabled action.

Also present was Charles Watson, representing the Tri-State Boots and Saddle Club, who asked permission for the group to again sponsor winter round and square dances on weekend nights in the Rogers village hall.

Councilmen whose terms are expiring were discussed, William Crawford indicating he is a candidate, and Kenneth Ours declining to run again. The selection of councilmen will be made by write-in at today's election.

Albert Starkey, street commissioner, announced that fall cleanup days will be held Nov. 16 and 23.

Minutes of the October meeting, read by clerk Maine Hall, were approved and bills totaling $342.97 were approved for payment.

The jail received 65 prisoners last month in addition to the 31 already confined as of Oct. 1. Fifty-seven prisoners were released in October; four were conveyed to state institutions and three mental patients were taken to state hospitals. The jail had 171 visitors during the month.

The sheriff said 344 papers were served, and 6,271 radio transmissions and 1,629 telephone calls were handled at the jail. Fees totaling $872.56 were collected.

Twenty-five sets of fox feet and ears were turned in at the sheriff's office in the Courthouse for the $3 county bounty.

Pair of Strange Bedfellows

Samuel Iubell, the opinion sampler, has told an Oberlin audience the Republican party can win the 1964 presidential election on the civil rights issue.

He refers to the growing opinion that the Solid South is the only place where traditional political loyalties can be shifted and to the possibility they might be shifted widely enough to offset the advantage that being in office gives to President Kennedy when bidding for a second term.

Reporter Magazine deals with the same possibility in its current issue, with a view to the effect on national politics in 1968 as well as 1964. "The result of critical elections in 1964 or 1968 may well be the emergency of political parties more emotionally opposed to each other than in the past," it declares, discussing the probability that Sen. Barry Goldwater's point of view would have an effect on party alignments in 1968 regardless of what happened in 1964. This assumes that Sen. Goldwater will be given the Republican nomination.

The question that comes to mind in these projections of political probability is how northern Republicans, with a heritage of liberalism from Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt, ever could get into the same bed with the South's Thurmonds, Eastlands, Sparkmans, Hills, Byrds, Russells et al the civil rights issue.

Republicans cannot be expected to answer this question offhand. They don't know. For 30 years they have wondered how the coalition of Northern and Southern Democrats kept from flying apart.

The only explanation is that they were held together by a common desire for political power. Perhaps that is the only explanation needed. It explains all the strange-bedfellow combinations that occur in national politics.

If Democrats could stand the Solid South for 30 years, Republicans could put up with it for the same high stakes. The two-party system works because it pits the cuts against the ins in a fluid battle for survival at the polls, not because either party locks itself into an ideology.

Let the Employers Decide

Ever since Ohio Sen. Frank J. Lausche made a bid for perpetual unpopularity by opposing a pay raise for government officials, including members of Congress, we have been pondering the moral issue he described.

It is whether senators and representatives should be asking what they can make the government do for them, or whether they should be asking what they can do for the government. Hmm.

Sen. Lausche pointed out that if legislators voted themselves more money they would be plagued by demands for pay increases in all areas of government service. But where he really cracked the whip was doubting publicly that a raise from the present $22,500 to $35,000, plus the same perquisites, would improve the quality of congressmen.

This is what we've been pondering. Sen. Lausche thinks there are hundreds of people who would replace representatives and senators for the money they're getting now. All well and good, but there's more to it than that.

The hundreds of willing replacements would be the same as the people they'd be trying to replace, because political service in the high echelons has turned into a closed society that cannot be entered at will by newcomers. The only way to qualify for a card of admittance is to go through the chairs, thus making it a certainty that all card-bearers will be compatible.

Whether they are paid $22,500, $35,000, or $250,000 is relatively unimportant. It is how they qualify that counts, not how much they can earn when they've made the grade.

And did it ever occur to our public servants who want a raise that we — their employers — should decide, not they — the employees?

It Would Need a Lot of Help

The story that Ohio's attractive astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. is being sounded out for a Senate race next year to beef up the Democratic party's chances of carrying Ohio keeps percolating in Washington's political coffee pot.

It is a certainty that Col. Glenn would be a strong candidate against anyone else in sight, whether in the Democratic party or the November showdown.

It is a fair guess that no Republican would relish the prospect of making a race against him. But it is not clear how this would help the Democratic party corner Ohio's electoral votes.

The Nixon-Lodge ticket carried all but nine Ohio counties in 1960. Ohioans gave the Republican candidates a 273,363 majority. Despite the best efforts of Democratic and organized labor campaign workers, the only counties carried by the Kennedy-Johnson ticket were those in which special circumstances favored the Democratic ticket. In only one of these counties, Cuyahoga, were the circumstances special enough to amass a large pro-Democrat vote and it wasn't large enough, only 429,030 to 288,056.

This would be a heavy handicap for a popular hero who is not even identified as a Democrat to date and who says when asked about it that he is an independent. Col. Glenn might win a popularity contest hands down, but could he help the party that lost Ohio in 1960? Seems doubtful. It would need a lot of help in 79 or more of its 88 counties.

Ruritan Service

Congratulations are due five area Ruritan clubs which were singled out for meritorious achievements at the service organization's Ohio convention at Sandy Valley Saturday.

The growth of Ruritan in the rural and suburban districts of Columbiana and Mahoning counties in recent years has been the result of outstanding community service projects of the many fine men who are dedicated to helping their respective towns become better places in which to live.

We tip our hats especially to Greenford, Winona, Lisbon, Leetonia and Rogers.

I think I'll spend next winter making picket signs for Spring.

If it's an open Winter I might even use the signs in the meantime. But I don't jump at the idea of picketing in snow. Or rain. Or high winds.

Maybe my zeal will fire up, though, once I get into the swing of picketing. Something seems to get into people when bitten by the picket bug. It might get into me.

They turn into belligerent exhibitionists and will do anything to call attention to themselves. Only one thing might hold me back in this respect. Most pickets, except Negroes, go in for long hair. You have to look close to tell the men from the women. Perhaps I could rent a picketing wig.

UNDERSTAND, I don't have anything particular in mind to picket about. I am not disposed to bleed for things. I do not want to Ban the Bomb. Impeach Earl Warren, bar the sale of wheat to Russia, repeal the 14th amendment, or muscle my way into any segment of anyone's society.

My interest in this is not in the causes other people picket for but in being a picket. I want to feel I am part of the age. I have the privilege of living in — an age when human beings carry little signs on little sticks, preferably with pointed ends to jab with in case of hostile forces.

I want to have my picture taken as a symbolic force, a placard-bearing knight of our brave new world in which the measure of a man is the number of times he can walk the picketing course, holding his chin and his piece of cardboard high, like a hero.

Down With Taxation . . . Down With Castro . . . Down With Madam Nhu . . . Down With Tito . . . Down With the United Nations . . . Justice for Joe Jones . . . Freedom for Fred Fumadiddle . . .

WHAT HAVE I been doing about these heart-thumping causes! What blows for freedom have I been striking? What have I contributed to the progress of my era? Nothing.

I have never held aloft anything on a stick except toasted marshmallows and frazzled weenies. I have never defied the Cossacks to manhandle me so I could be a martyr. I have never risked having some goon mash my little sign and break my little stick over my little head.

Nor have I mashed any little signs or broken any little sticks over any other little heads. I have taken no steps to make manifest my contempt for the status quo. I have never looked past the sharp teeth and down the red throat of a cop daring me to step out of line.

I have never teetered on the edge of the letter of the law to prove I had it up front where it counts—in the picket line.

So this winter I'll be making signs and hoping to get into the procession come Spring. Signs? One sign will be enough—

Barry Takes Fight to JFK

By VICTOR RIESEL

NEW YORK

It was a good-humored Barry Goldwater who came to this labor town the other night and "worked out," as the prizefighters say, at the Rockefeller Center Hilton Hotel. He jibed and jabbed at the Kennedy administration — and included a gentle side-swipe at Arthur Goldberg though not by name — as he challenged the Kennedys' right to claim labor's support.

The Arizona traveler, though speaking at a banquet given by the investment magazine, Financial World, concentrated on what he claimed were the wrongs done the workman by the New Frontier.

He did not pander, not did he woo, though he spoke in the heart of a city where the Central Labor Council has one million members. It was here he decided to take the fight to Jack Kennedy on the very front where the Kennedys feel strongest.

The senator's strategy was simple and direct — he charged that labor had no reason to back the President.

Goldwater asserted the workman had been "shortchanged by the economic policies" of the White House.

HE HIT HARD with an assertion that the administration had pushed labor as well as management around.

"Collective bargaining," said the senator, "has given way to kind of de facto compulsory arbitration — again, without a law, without consent, without consensus."

"In shipping, in rails, and, yes, even in the affairs of the Metropolitan Opera, short-term and shortsighted intervention have replaced collective bargaining and have darkened the climate for good collective bargaining or good, long-run labor-management relations."

"The working man and the businessman are caught alike in this crisis of confidence." Then Goldwater charged bluntly that it was the New Frontier itself which was not creating the number of jobs needed to absorb the increasing population. This, he said, was caused by a sluggish economy resulting from administration policies.

"In this fourth year of promises," the senator said, "the number of unemployed is 10 per cent higher than at the time of the incomplete recovery in 1960."

"What confidence can those men and women have in economic theories vested in depression and dependent upon doles?"

The Big Difference

ord of what Mr. Blough said at his news conference Oct. 29:

"Mr. Wiebel has been very helpful in the community and has tried to carry out our overall U.S. Steel policy of being a good citizen in the community in which we live. Now, the criticism that U.S. Steel hasn't used what some people refer to as sume to mean some kind of economic force to bring about economic influence—which I presume kind of change—is, I think, an improper matter on which to criticize Mr. Wiebel or U.S. Steel."

"I think I would have to take considerable time to fully explain this point, but very briefly I'd like to say this: I do not either believe it would be a wise thing for U.S. Steel to be other than a good citizen in the community, or to attempt to have its ideas of what is right for that community enforced upon that community by some sort of economic means."

"This is repugnant to me personally, and, I'm sure, it's repugnant to my fellow officers in U.S. Steel. I doubt very much that this, in principle, is a good thing for any corporation to follow. When we as individuals are citizens in a community, we can exercise what small influence we may have as citizens but for a corporation to attempt to exert any kind of economic compulsion to achieve a particular end in the social area seems to me to be quite beyond what a corporation should do, and I would say also quite beyond what a corporation can do."

Q. "Do you think that you have done all that you should do or can do? And you reject the criticism, do you not?"

MR. BLOUGH: "I would put it this way: That we have fulfilled our responsibility in the Birmingham area—whatever responsibility we have as a corporation or as individuals working with a corporation, because, after all, a corporation is nothing but individuals."

Then came President Kennedy's news conference on Oct. 31:

Q. The United States Steel

"WHAT CONFIDENCE can those men and women have in the face of the new demands that new technology places on all job seekers, when they view a tax structure so antiquated that it permits deduction for training in present jobs or even obsolete jobs but penalizes those who would train themselves for better jobs?"

"How ironic that we will spent billions to advance the technologies of space flight, while inhibiting the advance of earthly skills!"

"How tragic that we will attempt to teach youngsters to fell trees and rake leaves in an age of automation. How tragic that we will seek status quo in our skills, while our science races to the stars."

Then he charged the government leaders with attempting to regiment industry and the nation.

"Where are the jobs, the challenges to our skills? Millions of new jobs are, simply and sadly, lost in the limbo of investments not made, risks not taken, enterprise not dared — because of the lack of confidence that becomes a reflex as an economy is regimented and regulated."

Not once did the senator let up. He threw back at the Kennedy administration the very same figures and charges which the White House and such men as Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz and economic braintruster

Walter Heller (who is now believed about to resign) have been heaving at the Republicans in general and Goldwater in particular.

THE SENATOR said the "high rate of unemployment has shown no real improvement for a year — holding at about four million." Then he asked why the jobless are not back at work, why some 1.5 million of them find it is now futile to look for jobs. He asserted there are at least six million Americans who would like to have jobs, "if jobs could be found."

"With the vitality sapped from the creation of jobs," he said, "through a federal philosophy that knows only the solutions of the depression . . . and will not admit that a new day needs new enterprise — with work lagging behind those willing to work, it's estimated that perhaps as many as 1½ million persons simply have stopped trying to get jobs."

Then he quit jabbing and hit hard with his right.

"However profusely certain hearts may bleed for the working man," said the senator, "the fact is that it's the working man who has been shortchanged by the economic policies that give us this sluggish economic performance."

There was more to the senator's talk. But the rest is for the financial department.

Corp. has rejected the idea that it should use economic pressure in an effort to improve race relations in Birmingham, Ala. Do you have any comment on that position, and do you have any counsel for management and labor in general as to their social responsibility in the areas of tension of this kind?

The President: "Actually, Mr. Blough has been somewhat helpful in one or two cases that I can think of in Birmingham. I don't think he should narrowly interpret his responsibility for the future. That is a very influential company in Birmingham, and he wants to see that city prosper, as do we all. Obviously, the federal government cannot solve this matter. So that business has a responsibility—labor and, of course, every citizen. So I would think that particularly a company which is as influential as United States Steel in Birmingham. I would hope would use its influence on the side of comity between the races."

"Otherwise, the future of Birmingham, of course, is not as happy as we hope it would be. In other words, it can't be decided—this matter—in Washington. It has to be decided by citizens everywhere. Blough is an influential citizen. I'm sure he will do the best he can."

Q. "Do you think that you have done all that you should do or can do? And you reject the criticism, do you not?"

MR. BLOUGH: "I would put it this way: That we have fulfilled our responsibility in the Birmingham area—whatever responsibility we have as a corporation or as individuals working with a corporation, because, after all, a corporation is nothing but individuals."

Then came President Kennedy's news conference on Oct. 31:

Q. The United States Steel

THERE ISN'T a word in that reply with which Mr. Blough would probably disagree, because the President was obviously talking about the "influence" of the company officers as individuals, while the newsmen who asked the question at the same press conference was inquiring about "economic pressure."

It was the latter concept which the head of the steel corporation had "rejected" at his own news conference.

There's a big difference between what businessmen say as individuals in discussions in community meetings and what they are being asked to do by some persons—namely, to sell to or buy from only the companies which conform to one viewpoint on "civil rights."

To some readers it might appear that President Kennedy feels that the influence of individual businessmen properly exerted is not enough, and that economic pressure is a responsibility of all corporations and businesses and firms.

A clarification by the White House could be helpful in these days when, to diminish racial discrimination, more can be accomplished by the processes of reason than by compulsion.

Matter of Fact

Never in the history of modern industry has such a cataclysm overtaken any great trade as did the cotton famine which devastated the British cotton industry during the years 1861-65 as a result of the American Civil War. Then, the supply of U.S. cotton, which formed 85 per cent of Britain's consumption of the raw material, was almost cut off.

Ann Landers Answers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old girl who has been dating three different boys this last year. I'm not crazy about any of them but I have a stronger pull toward Frank — the one I'm figuring to drop.

Please tell me if I am wrong. My conscience is killing me.

Frank and I used to have fun together until he started to tell me his troubles. For the last several months he has turned every date into a psychiatric session. He hates his father, he can't stand his mother, his sister dominates him and his brother overshadows him.

I know Frank needs someone to listen to him but I'm not a psychiatrist and I can't give him any answers. He says he loves me and that is reason enough for me to love him in return.

I don't love him — in fact, he is beginning to depress me. Please tell me what to do — SHERRY.

Dear Sherry: My standard advice is to steer clear of people who have a bad effect on you — this means people who make you feel guilty, ashamed or depressed.

Frank needs to unload on someone but he needs to bend a professional ear, or at least a sympathetic one. Tell him goodbye.

Poodle Puddles

Dear Ann: My mother-in-law has two poodles which are not trained. She claims these dogs cannot be trained because they are highly nervous and excitable. She has decided to learn to live with it and she expects everyone else to "live with it," too.

My husband and I bought new carpeting last August. When my mother-in-law comes over she always brings the poodles and we just about have heart failure. They already have decorated the carpeting in two places.

The damage is behind the sofa, fortunately, and is not noticeable. But now we can't change the furniture around on account of the spots.

Do we have the right to tell my mother-in-law she must keep the dogs in the kitchen? She tried it once and they cried so she let them out. My husband says he will do as you say. — MRS. NEW CARPETING.

Dear Mrs. New: Your mother-in-law's excuse that the dogs are not "trainable" is applesauce. What she means is that she cannot or will not train them.

Indeed you do have the right to insist that she keep the dogs in the kitchen. Better THEY should be crying in the kitchen than YOU should be crying in the living room.

Slovenly Neighbors

Dear Ann: Last February we moved into a fine neighborhood of lovely homes. The people next door moved into their half-finished home last May — and it still isn't finished. Also, they haven't picked up a thing that has been dropped into their yard all year.

Our patio faces their dingy wash which hangs out seven days a week. Every pole, brick, pipe, can, tire and broom that has been dragged into their carport by their kids is still lying around. I see all this junk from my kitchen window.

What can we do? We hate to build a fence tall enough to cut off this disgusting view. The people seem pleasant and we don't want to make them angry.

Do you think it would be all right for me to go over and clean up their yard myself? My husband says no. What do you say? — SORE EYES.

DEAR EYES: I say no, too. You have no right to go into your neighbor's yard without permission for any reason whatever.

Since the people seem pleasant, why not tell them next Monday is going to be a cleanup day "for the neighborhood" and you hope they'll cooperate. When you go out Monday to rake a few leaves or shovel the snow, remind her that "Today is the day."

Girls Camp Fire

Hanoverton's three Campfire Girl groups have recently concluded a busy month.

The Blue Birds, under the leadership of Mrs. Emma Jane Blazer and Mrs. Helen Wilson, have chosen bead work as their project for November.

Campfire Girls, under the leadership of Mrs. Norma Baker, Mrs. Ruth Drake, Mrs. Mary Lou Loudon and Mrs. William Camp are being instructed in knitting by Mrs. Loudon.

Tentative plans of projects are being made for Thanksgiving and Christmas, along with a visitation to the County Home. Junior High Girls have chosen the name, "Takima," meaning "To form a circle." Their projects are knitting and instruction by Mrs. Peg Barker and taking the child care course.

Plans are being made for a party this month. Mrs. Frances Brenner and Mrs. Martha Faloon are leaders.

The three groups recently assisted with a benefit, the proceeds of which will be shared by all groups and used toward future projects.

There are 39 girls enrolled in the organization.

NEW CHEVELLE!

BY CHEVROLET

The kind of comfort you'd expect in a large interior. Come on down and sit in it.

The kind of handling ease you'd expect in a smaller car. Come on down and drive it.

Only a car that looks as good as this could come between Chevrolet and Chevy II. Come on down and stare at it.

New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe

Now—Chevy spirit in a new kind of car!

We built this one to do a lot more than just stand around looking beautiful. Held its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. Then built four lusty engines for it—two sixes and two V8's—with output all the way up to 220 horses*!

And if that combination of modest weight and potent power makes you think this is one frisky car, you've got the right idea.

You've also got a car with lots of room for legs, hips, shoulders, hats and luggage. Yet its 115-inch wheelbase keeps it highly maneuverable in traffic and very easy to park.

With its Full Coil suspension and snug insulation, it's got a ride that reminds you of the Jet-smooth kind the way it muffles noise and cushions you from bumps.

And the fine hand of Body by Fisher craftsmen shows up beneath this one's suave good looks, too. Just listen to the solid thunk of a door closing or look at the smooth metalwork. You'll see what we mean.

Sound good so far? There's more. Like the fact that Chevelle comes in three series with eleven models—convertibles, sport coupes, sedans, wagons, even Super Sport models with front bucket seats. Like the fact that (and see if this isn't one of the nicest surprises of all) the new Chevelle comes at an easy-to-take price!

Like to hear more? The listening's wonderful at your Chevrolet dealer's—and so's the driving.

Dixon-Dearth Vows Heard By Rev. Hunter

At an altar graced by vases of white gladioli and chrysanthemums with a background of ferns and palms, Rev. Ray J. Hunter officiated at the double ring ceremony at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 27 which united in marriage Miss Sandra Jean Dixon and Larry W. Dearth in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church. Seven branch cathedral candelabra lighted the decor.

Miss Carol Murphy played the traditional wedding procession as the bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Robert T. Dixon, who gave her in marriage.

She wore a floor length gown of white silk organa over taffeta with modified scoop neckline enhanced with embroidery and outlined with pearls and sequins which also detailed the long sleeves. The softly pleated full skirt boasted a panel down center front and back ending in a chapel train. A double crown of pearls and crystals held her finger-tip length veil of silk illusion. She carried white roses, carnations and stephanotis in cascade arrangement and the pearl and diamond pendant she wore was a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Helen Madden was maid of honor, and attendants were Mrs. Fred Weingart and Mrs. Glenda Shuman both of Salem, and Miss Anita Rodrigue of Alliance.

They wore light blue sheath dresses of lace over taffeta with full overskirts, complemented with matching hats graced with flutter veils, and carried baskets of pink and blue carnations and white pompons.

Trudy Gail Dixon of Lisbon, niece of the bride, was flower girl in a floor length dress of light pink taffeta. She wore a rhinestone crown headpiece and carried a miniature basket of pink and blue carnations.

Gerald Mincks served as best man and ushers were Fred Weingart and Roger Mincks of Salem and Fred Stanley of North Benton.

The mothers of the bridal pair chose dresses in shades of blue and corsages of pink and white rose buds.

Reception Follows
Pale blue roses decorated the four-tier cake which was the focal point of the bride's table at the reception in the church Fellowship Hall following the ceremony. A white ruffled organza cloth draped with white satin ribbon and bows covered the table which was lighted with white tapers in crystal holders. Color was lent by the bouquets of the attendants. Serving were Mrs. Wilbert Baker, Mrs. Joseph Ward, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Martin Whitman and Mrs.

'Sadie Hawkins' Dance Is Success

Over 100 persons enjoyed the Saturday night dance which climaxed the all-day "Sadie Hawkins" festivities sponsored by the Salem Jayceettes.

Shocks of corn, bales of hay, lots of pumpkins and myriads of "little brown jugs" of "kick-apoo joy juice" decorated the ballroom of the Myers building which was centered with a replica of Chic Sales famous little building. Drawings of Dogpatch characters made by Kenneth Quandt, and red and white checked tablecloths decorated the wall behind the bandstand where Steve Navoyosky's orchestra played for dancing. Shmoo, made by Mrs. Bartholomew, "peek-a-bood" from bales of hay around the bandstand. Red and white check cloths covered the small tables surrounding the dance and dancers swirled under the glow of Japanese lanterns suspended from the ceiling.

Costume prizes were won by Robert Scullion, Thomas Ehrhart, Mrs. Edward Votaw, Cheryl Hutson, Nancy Hively and Mrs. Charles Peppel.

The first annual "Sadie Hawkins Day" celebration began with a parade Saturday morning with four bands, floats and Dogpatch "residents" participating. First prize award for the best float in the parade was made to the entry by the Blackburn Hilltoppers 4-H Club. Appreciation awards were made to the Senior Citizens Kitchen Band, the United High School Band and the East Liverpool Jaycees. Parade costume awards were made to Gayle Mayhew, Debby Emelo, Cheryl Hundertmark, Bunny Kaercher and Dyer Scott. Hints From Heloise

Dear Coffee Friend: If you are one of those who like that half-o-coffee during the day but hate to keep heating and reheating that coffee pot because it makes the coffee bitter . . . try putting the leftover coffee in a vacuum bottle and capping it as soon as breakfast is over. This not only will save time later but you can wash the coffee pot while you are doing breakfast dishes and get the kitchen clean and completed all at the same time.

Then when you need that half cup-o-coffee, pull the stopper out of the Thermos bottle and pour you a half-cup. . .

This not only saves you turning on the gas or connecting your coffee pot each time and having the coffee get stronger and stronger and more bitter, but it's ready in an instant. This coffee will keep hot for hours and hours. If you have no vacuum bottle, it might pay to buy a small one. We have had bachelors write that after preparing breakfast now, they pour the leftover coffee in a vacuum and when they come home from work they just unplug the stopper and have a wonderful cup-o-coffee instantly.

Really a great idea for those of you who are coffee friends. HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When having company to dinner and you want baked corn in a hurry . . . Take a little saucepan and heat the can of creamed corn on top of the stove.

Then take a glass casserole dish and put a dab of butter right in the center of the dish. Do not bother spreading the butter around the casserole.

When the corn has heated in the little saucepan, pour this on top of the butter in the dish thereby allowing the butter to spread around the casserole, saving a greasy messy job.

Place this casserole in the oven and let it bake along with biscuits and roast (or whatever there may be for dinner that night.) This can also be varied by sprinkling the top with bread crumbs or some type of cereal.

Corn peas, string beans, etc., can be done the same way. I always put a little butter on the top of any casserole dish before baking. The purpose is to save time!

Patricia Close Weds Garold M. Goodrich

Miss Patricia Ann Close, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Close of Ellett Road, Beloit, and Garold Mason Goodrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Goodrich of Beloit, were married at 3 p.m. Saturday in the First Friends Church at Beloit.

Rev. Charles A. Matti officiated at the double ring ceremony at an altar banked with palms and lighted with cathedral candles. Mrs. James King presided at the organ console.

Escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage the bride was gowning in a full length white antique satin and Chantilly lace dress with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves. Her finger-tip veil was held by a tiara of pearls and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Miss Carol Close, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Marianne Sams was bridesmaid.

Mr. Goodrich chose Ronald Hutcheson to be his best man and his brother, Allen, to usher, together with Wayne Maris.

The mother of the bride wore a gray knit suit and Mrs. Goodrich a green knit suit, both complementing their costumes with corsages of yellow roses. One hundred and twenty-five guests attended the reception in the home of the bridegroom's parents following the ceremony and were registered by Miss Jaretta Close, cousin of the bride.

White wedding bells and red net bows decorated the table of the bride which was centered with a three tier cake with top-piece of miniature bridal figurines.

The new Mrs. Goodrich is a senior at West Branch High School, from which the bridegroom graduated in June. He is in service with the army stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and will return there following a honeymoon to an undisclosed destination. His bride will reside with her parents until completion of her schooling.

Death of Council Candidate Probed

CINCINNATI (AP) — Authorities continued their investigation of the mysterious death of Buford Conley, an independent candidate for City Council in today's election.

Conley, 35, was found dead late Monday in his car in the garage of his home in the Avondale section.

Police said the car's ignition was turned on, but the motor apparently stalled. The gas tank was half full. The garage was closed but not locked.

The coroner's office said an autopsy probably would be made. No ruling on the death has been issued, but it is believed due to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Conley, an official of the local chapter of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, was one of four Negroes among the 28 candidates seeking election. No Negroes have been on Council since 1959.

Dr. Bracy Tells Methodist Teachers of Good They Do

"When you write your name upon the stars, then write it large upon the hearts of children," quoted Dr. Carl Bracy, president of Mount Union College, as he addressed an assembly of teachers and workers of the First Methodist Church Sunday School Monday evening at the church.

A native of Nebraska and an ordained minister of the Methodist Church, Dr. Bracy has been president of the college since 1954.

The theme of his talk was

"This Is the Church", and he remarked that although a lot of the church's humanitarian activities had been taken over by the government, the church still remains the greatest force for the redemption of man in this modern world. He said that the church sensitizes us to the forces of evil and corruption and stimulates us to action on behalf of our fellow man.

Dr. Bracy spoke of the work teachers and workers in the Sunday School, its effect on the youth of the church and he emphasized the influence the teachers have upon the moral well-being and future of those they teach. Rev. William Longworth introduced Dr. Bracy.

Preceding the program, which was under the direction of Russell Hackett, the 65 in attendance enjoyed a dinner as guests of the church Commission of Education. Placemats marked the individual settings at tables placed in V's, centered with flat arrangements of ears of corn, gourds, autumn berries and fruits sprinkled with chrysanthemum florets and lighted with a large frosted orange candle. A long low autumn arrangement similar to those on the side tables, and lighted with a cluster of orange tapers, graced the speaker's table.

Rev. Robert Irwin gave the invocation, and the meal was prepared and served by members of the Lois Zimmerman Group. Mrs. Gilson Koenreich was chairman in charge of arrangements for the event, and decorations were by Mrs. Robert Rheutan, Mrs. Dwaine Stanley, Mrs. Roy Roller and Mrs. Koenreich.

This remark, more than the incident itself, induced Secretary of State Dean Rusk to summon Georgi M. Kornienko, acting head of the Soviet Embassy, Monday morning, officials said.

The secretary was understood to have told the Russian that he interprets the incident on the autobahn and the Soviet officer's remark as proof of a Soviet attempt to change processing practices which existed over a period of years.

Kornienko, informants said, replied he had no word from his government on the incident.

States and a number of other nations was expected to follow quickly the approval of the predominantly civilian government by the ruling military junta Monday night.

Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, 47, leader of the coup that ousted the Diem regime, said in a proclamation that a Republican form of government will be retained although the junta will be the country's final authority.

Minh, who assumed the position of chief of state, said his committee of generals will give its chief attention to direction of the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

Until revision of the 1956 constitution, Minh said, legislative and executive power will center in the junta but will be exercised by the provisional government. He explained that the junta will retain active authority over national defense, security and finances.

Tho, 55, was vice president in the Diem regime. A Buddhist, he tried to conciliate the dispute between his coreligionists and Roman Catholic President Diem but his efforts were frustrated by Diem's tough brother and chief adviser, Ngo Dinh Nhu.

In Washington, in a speech to the House of Representatives, Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., said the rebels must have received encouragement from the United States.

Zablocki, head of a Foreign Affairs subcommittee that visited South Viet Nam before the coup, called the deaths of Diem and Nhu repulsive assassinations.

Zablocki said if U.S. officials knew of the revolt and "failed to bring pressure to insure safe conduct out of the country for Diem, then the shadow of blame falls" on the United States.

The military junta holds to the story that Diem and Nhu committed suicide after their capitulation Saturday. The commonly accepted version of their deaths is that they were killed by soldiers after their capture.

Their bodies were reported being kept in a secret place awaiting burial instructions from two other brothers in Europe.

The junta apparently feared violent demonstration if the location of the bodies became known.

In Los Angeles, Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, wife and sister-in-law of the brothers, disclosed through an aide she had received word from Saigon both were "brutally killed." The informant was identified only as a top Vietnamese general.

He reportedly told the former First Lady in a telephone call from Saigon that her husband had been stabbed to death and that Diem also was assassinated.

Mrs. Nhu and her oldest daughter, Le Thuy, 18, were scheduled to leave for Rome Wednesday for a reunion with her three other children, a boy, 15, and two girls, 11 and 4, who were in South Viet Nam during the revolt.

The younger children were flown secretly from Saigon to Bangkok, Thailand, Monday night in a U.S. Air Force plane. In the Thai capital they boarded a commercial airliner for Rome.

Awaiting them in Rome was Mrs. Nhu's brother-in-law, Archbishop Ngo Dinh Thuc, who is attending the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Mrs. Nhu was said to be considering a return to the United States after her trip to Rome. An aide said she had received many sympathetic messages from Americans.

Chief Lutsch said the man is approximately six-feet tall, weighs 170 pounds and has dark hair, greying around the temples. The chief said the man, who goes by the name Frank Laflia or Lakia, poses as a representative of the Ferrall Pattern Works in Columbiana and has identifying credentials.

Lutsch said the man passed one company check for $150 and attempted to cash another at a local store. When that merchant refused to cash the second one, the man then wrote a personal check for $28.84 which was accepted.

The trustees reported that grading work on the Butler Grange Rd. has been temporarily halted to permit the installation of snow fence and the scraping of the road where needed.

The electric water heating system will be attached to the grader motor on extremely cold nights to ensure the motor starts.

Two township residents were guests. Bills totaling $2,174.54 were authorized for payment.

Brown

Charles V. Carr for City Council in the 17th, said she had received threats during the campaign.

"You better get off or you will be sorry," Brown quoted the woman as saying she was told by an anonymous telephone caller.

Brown said possible difficulty over a write-in on voting machines in the 26th Ward led him to send an observer there.

Observers also were assigned to Jefferson and Adams counties. Nelson Risher went to Jefferson County at the request of the Election Board and Robert Ferguson to Manchester where a local option issue developed campaign heat.

Brown pointed out to election officials in Lawrence County that statute prescribes the method of protesting absent voter ballots. But he said he would look into complaints that an unusually large number of such ballots were cast in this election.

He also ordered an investigation into a situation producing a deadlock on the Mahoning County Election Board. Board members asked Brown to break a 2-2 vote over a request for the prosecutor to determine the residence address of Donald Alkema, sponsor of a political advertisement. Board members challenged the address in the ad. The advertisement was described as adverse to Anthony B. Flash, Democratic opponent of Republican Mayor Harry N. Savasten.

$6,876 Job Overcharge Listed In Wash'ville Report

A finding for the recovery of $6,876.10 from Walter Rupert as overcharges for a sewer construction project in Washingtonville, Columbiana County, was returned today in a state examiner's report released by State Auditor Roger W. Tracy.

The disclosure came in a report covering an examination of the village fiscal affairs for a period extending from May 8, 1960 through July 31, 1962.

The overcharge cited by the examiner was based upon the contractor's estimate of earth yards of excavation in excess of the engineer's work sheets, at the contract price of $1.10 per cubic yard.

Commenting upon the contractor's claim for additional compensation because of extra excavation required for the open cut trench operation, and a verbal agreement reached with village officials altering the original contract, the examiner said, in part:

"All alterations and modifications to an existing written contract should be made only in the manner provided by law and not by oral agreement. . . .

"We find no written agreement or supplemental contract providing for additional work and excavation in excess of that shown by the engineer's work sheets of actual excavation made.

"Our examination reveals an overcharge . . . of 6,251 cubic yards" which, "at the contract price of $1.10 per cubic yard, amounts to $6,876.10."

The examiner recommended that since there is a $8,709 retained balance due the contractor, the amount of the finding be deducted from the unpaid balance.

"WIVES AND LOVERS" JANET LEIGH — VAN JOHNSON

Matinee Idol

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Cary Grant has decided to learn how to cook.

"Maybe if I learn how to cook, somebody'll marry me if I play my cards wrong," he said lightly.

"I once got a Boy Scout merit badge for cooking. But about all I remember now is that you have to cook things longer at a mountain altitude.

"If a man really goes into it, he makes a better cook than a woman. Take Danny Kaye—he's fantastic. My cook is rather jealous of his ability."

As a first step in acquiring culinary skill, Grant is having a modern electric kitchen installed in his hilltop home north of Beverly Hills.

The ageless movie actor, who recently completed his 61st starring film, was in a merry mood.

The evening before had been notable. The Theater Owners of America had presented Cary with their "Star of the Year" award. Two young ladies also had followed him into the men's washroom to kiss him—an impromptu award for which he had no prepared speech or ready ad lib.

Now, the morning after, as he dressed for a luncheon date, Cary pranced around his hotel suite as gay a college sophomore.

As he went under the shower, he sang "Mother Machree" in a bathroom baritone that would never win him a Metropolitan Opera audition. He emerged a few moments later clad in a white towel.

Time is scattering more and more gray hairs on his head, but he still has the youthful build of a pro football halfback—lean, tanned and muscular.

Asked if he could touch his knuckles to the floor, Cary said he'd never tried, then bent easily down several times and knuckled the living room rug without strain.

"I don't take any regular exercise—I just move around," he said. "And I ride a lot. You can meditate well on a horse."

"I'm credited with living on a strict diet, but I really don't."

I just try to please my stomach. I eat whatever I want whenever I want—but sometimes I go two days without eating at all."

As he completed his dressing chores, Cary gave tidbits of information about himself:

"I don't believe in luck. People make their own life by setting up their own problems."

"My biggest failing? Talking when I should be listening. I suppose."

Smiling and now faultlessly attired, he left for his luncheon date, looking as much like a matinee idol as he did 25 years ago—still charming and cheerful at 59.

Salem Must Replace Key Players For Geneva Game

Begalla Hurt, Won't Practice

Earley, Lantz Out With Back Injuries

On the heels of two bad beat-ings, Salem's outlook was any-thing but rosy as the Quakers began practicing Monday for their final game of the season against Geneva at Reilly Stad-ium Friday.

Coach Don Clarico is faced with the problem of replacing three key players in the lineup.

Fullback George Begalla, 209-lb. senior, is hobbling around on a severe ankle injury. He won't practice this week, and it is doubtful if he will even be ready for the final tilt.

End Jim Lantz, a promising sophomore who has seen con-siderable action this season, is sidelined with a back injury. Senior signal caller Larry Ear-ley is also suffering from a back injury.

CHUCK JOSEPH, a junior, will probably get the nod at the fullback post. Joe Rottenborn, who has started for Salem off and on during the campaign, may be Clarico's choice at Quarterback. The Quakers' mentor won't decide on the end replacement until later in the week.

Geneva has posted a 6-4 re-cord this season, and will have along the top scorer in the Northeast Conference, Bill Montgomery, 173-lb. senior half-back who has 86-points.

The Eagles' left side of the line is all juniors. End Reggis Sloop weighs 180-lb.; left tackle Larry Branek, 215-lb.; and left guard Jim Cecil, 210-lb.

IN THE BACKFIELD for the visitors will be all seniors. Gary Urcheck is the quarterback; Montgomery, left halfback; Tom Wright, right halfback and Bob Herpy, fullback.

The Eagles have beaten Ash-tabula Harbor, Ashtabula St. John, Cleveland John Hay and Conneaut twice. Geneva has been beaten by Madison, Pain-essville Riverside and Paines-ville Harvey.

Salem, in the past two outings has dropped a 42-8 decision to Boardman and a 48-6 pasting by East Liverpool. Midway through the campaign the Qua-kers were beaten by Farrell, Pa., 40-7.

San Diego Leads Statistics In AFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Sid Gill-man's San Diego Chargers wid-ened their total offense lead in the American Football League over the weekend by rolling up 523 yards in their 53-7 romp over the New York Jets.

Tobin Rote accounted for 369 yards with his passes and Paul Lowe, Keith Lincoln and Co. added the rest. As a result of this outburst the Chargers have an impressive average of 392.2 yards per game for their first eight games.

Only the Buffalo Bills are within shouting distance of San Diego and they're not too close. Buffalo has averaged 363.2 yards. Houston in third place averaged 315.2 yards.

Buffalo displaced Houston as the passing leader with a 238.3-yard average and San Diego re-mained on top in the rushing de-partment with 160.3 yards per game.

The Boston Patriots who showed plenty of offense in slug-ging Houston 45-3, also helmed their defensive record. The Pats have yielded an average of 244.7 yards per game, almost 50 yards less than second-place Oakland.

Chuck Joseph Scores 2 TD's For Quakers

Salem Reserves End Season, Edge East Liverpool 20-14

Fullback Chuck Joseph crack-ed over from two yards out for a touchdown, with only 58 sec-onds left in the game, to give the Salem reserves a thrilling 20-14 victory over East Liver-pool's junior varsity at Reilly Stadium last night.

The Quakers drove 65 yards for the TD. A 30-yard sweep by speedster Dave Fleischer set up the tally.

Browns' Mentor Defends Offensive System

Ryan Given Vote of Confidence From Cleveland Coach Collier

CLEVELAND (AP) — Have the Cleveland Browns lost their high-powered offensive thrust, particularly in the passing de-partment?

Coach Blanton Collier gives this view: "There is nothing wrong that a little more con-centration and a little better ex-ecution won't take care of."

The coach gave passer Frank Ryan a vote of confidence Mon-day night and said: "We'll get back in the groove."

Ryan completed only four of nine passes for 70 yards in the Browns' 23-17 victory over Phila-delphia last Sunday. One was intercepted. Cleveland stayed on the ground as Jim Brown rolled up 223 yards on 28 carries, in-cluding a 62-yard touchdown dash on the fourth play of the game.

Collier was asked if the Browns tended to play too con-servatively. In their six - game winning streak, the Cleveland of-fense was bold and versatile. Then the Browns were whipped 33-6 by the second-place New York Giants on Oct. 27. They rebounded back to the victory column in Philadelphia but rarely hung on at the finish.

"It's not a question of play calling," Collier said of possible conservatism. "There were a number of factors involved. The wind was one of them. It was blowing at 21 miles an hour. A gust blew the football back for one interception when we were driving into it in the first quar-ter."

"Both passers were affected by it," Collier said Cleveland went into the Philadelphia contest with a plan to move the football on the ground. "We did move it well at the start," he said. "Jim Brown's long touchdown run was just about a perfect play. So, we were reluctant to change."

"And in the last quarter, when we would have liked to throw more, we were going into the wind again."

After looking at the films of the Browns-Eagles contest, Col-lier said the Browns could have scored at least two more touch-downs. "We missed two or three more just by inches," he ex-plained.

"One man failed to execute a block or we would have had another score on that same play that Jim went 62 yards for the touchdown. That was the case on several other occasions. It was just a matter of one block."

Barrington Moved To Half Back, Warfield To Split End At OSU

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Don't be surprised if Ohio State's offense, which has been some-what puny this year, becomes a bit more robust the rest of the way.

Coach Woody Hayes disclosed to press luncheon guests Mon-day that he's ready to do some tinkering — and that sophomore Tom Barrington of Lima, his new-found sparkplug, will be the key man.

Barrington will get plenty of work at quarterback, if the occasional calls for it, and the rest of the time he'll be at left half-back, Hayes said. And when Tom's at halfback, speedster Paul Warfield will be moved to the split end spot where his blocking and pass-catching pro-ess should add new fireworks.

With the Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl bid distinct possibi-lities, if the Bucks can get a bit of outside aid against Illinois and Michigan State, Hayes is ready to shoot the works.

Barrington shook off four days in bed with influenza, took over the halfback post without a bit of practice, and led Ohio to Sat-urday's 7-3 victory over Iowa. The week before he made his first appearance against Wiscon-sin, after missing the first four games with a fractured jaw, and was a big factor in the come-from behind 13-10 triumph. Now he's the golden boy around whom Ohio's hopes are centered.

He picked up 111 yards in 15 tries—79 in 8 from halfback—in the Iowa tilt, and Hayes has non-conference Penn State coming up Saturday to tune him up for the Big Ten stretch drive against Northwestern and Michigan.

"I'm afraid what will happen to him when he has the advan-tage of our coaching," Hayes joked to the writers.

Hayes denied he isn't too in-terested in winning non-conference games, and said Saturday's fray should be a spirited one. Penn State has played Ohio twice and won both games, the latest a 7-6 affair in 1956 when Milt Plum was the starting star for the Nittany Lions.

The Lions, boasting a 216-pound forward wall, have a 5-2 record with wins over Oregon, UCLA, Rice, West Virginia and Maryland, and losses to Army and Syracuse. No one has scored more than two touchdowns against them.

Saturday's game, which starts at 2 p.m. instead of the usual 1:30, will be on eastern regional television.

AP Survey Leader Massillon Battles 11th Ranked Canton McKinley Friday

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's scholastic football spot-light will be focused on north-eastern gridirons Saturday as four former state champions battle in a pair of contests with the 1963 title probably riding on the results.

Massillon's Tigers, leaders in the current Associated Press poll, meet Canton McKinley's 11th-rated Bulldogs in Canton Fawcett Stadium. Toledo Central Catholic's 1962 champions go against Niles McKinley's 1961 title-holders, who are right be-hind Massillon in the 1963 strug-gle.

Massillon has won the title nine times since the poll was in-augurated in 1947. Three times the Tigers were second.

Canton McKinley grabbed the crown in 1955 and 1956. Niles won it in 1961, and Toledo Cen-tral took the Rutgers Hall of Fame Trophy emblematic of the title a year ago.

Meet 2nd Time This Season

Massillon's clash with Canton McKinley will be the second of the year, the Tigers winning 24-20 on Oct. 11 at Massillon. The Stark County talk indicates the Bulldogs could cost the Tigers the crown this time.

Springfield South, a chal-lenger all year for the top spot in the poll, was dumped 18-16.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—How 55 sports editors, 34 from news-papers and 21 from radio - TV stations, rate Ohio's high school football teams this week.

Shown are the first-place votes in parentheses, the poll points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis, and the won-lost-tied records of the lead-ers.

Teams Poll Pts. W-L-T

by Lima Senior and fell from second to eighth place.

Unbeaten Wilmington was able to defeat Washington Court House by only 2-0 and lost sup-port, surrendering its spot in the Top Ten. Canton McKinley, tied for 10th last week, dropped a notch despite a 30-0 victory over Cuyahoga Falls, and Akron Ho-ban's unbeaten - untied team made its first appearance among the elite by taking ninth.

Moves Up From 7th to 5th

Akron Garfield, Massillon's lone conqueror, jumped from seventh to fifth with a 56-6 triumph over Akron Buchtel, while Sandusky moved up a notch to third with a 23-14 ver-dict over Lorain Admiral King.

From here and there:

Greenfield McClain, after 22 losses and a scoreless tie, beat Franklin Heights 22-20 to break the string. Newark's scoreless tie with Zanesville assured the Wildcats their first Central Ohio League title since 1948.

New Lexington beat Gloucester 80-0 for a 9-0 record and goes against Crooksville, also 9-0, for the Muskingum Valley loop crown Friday. And two other 9-0 clubs, Baltimore Liberty-Union and Millersport, tangle Friday to determine the Mid-state League crown. Steve Bud-nick of Millersport has scored 176 points.

Coaches Lloyd Dunne of Ash-land and Chuck Stobart of Mount Vernon took their jobs in 1961, and each had an 0-10 season. The next year each had a 4-5 record. This year—each is 9-0, with Ashland taking the Cardi-nal Conference title and Mount Vernon the Central Buckeye.

Minnich Tallies 4 Times

Ashland's Jim Minnich ran for 245 yards and scored four touch-downs for a 128-point season in the 60-14 rout of Defiance. Mount Vernon's perfect season is its third in eight years.

Coach Carroll Hawhee of Wav-erly won his 100th victory in 14 seasons with the 46-0 triumph over Wheelersburg. He has a 100-36-5 mark.

Roy Lammers of Dover St. Joseph scored four times to run his season's point total to 122 as Danville fell 39-16. Arnie Fontes, Canton McKinley quar-terback, has thrown 11 touchdown passes and averages seven yard per carry. He also placekicks and punts. Warren Harding set a school record of 615 yards rushing and passing as the Panthers beat Steubenville 52-12.

Willard, Bucyrus and Bellevue scored shutouts Friday to tie for the Northern Ohio League title with 6-1 records—and all three are 8-1 overall.

Kohelmeyer Catches 30 Passes

Lorain's Ken Kohlmeyer has caught 30 passes this year, a school record. Cleveland St. Ignatius, 18-0 over two seasons, whipped West Tech 50-0 and needs only a victory over Cleve-land South next Saturday to get into the big town's title game.

Fremont St. Joseph wound up unbeaten for the second straight year with a 19-game string. It was the third unbeaten season in four years for Coach Robert Smith.

Folk in Southeast Ohio are booming Bob DiStefano of Mar-tins Ferry as the best quar-terback in the state.

Texas Is Overwhelming Choice In AP Poll; OSU Voted 10th

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Unbeaten, untied Texas is maintaining its tight grip as the nation's No. 1 college football team despite fears by Coach Darrell Royal that the Long-horns may be battling "a com-plex about those zeroes in the second half."

Texas again drew an over-whelming vote Monday for the top spot in The Associated Press weekly poll, but Royal appeared apprehensive as he spoke in Austin, Tex., about Saturday's game against Baylor, tied with the Longhorns for the Southwest Conference lead.

As for the complex Royal mentioned, it's the fact that Texas has failed to score in the second half in their last three games—won by a total of only 13 points.

Despite the squeakers, Texas gained 45 of the 53 first-place votes of a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters for 502 points. Illinois was second with 425 points. The Long-crushed Purdue 41-21.

The only major change in the Top Ten was Michigan State's arrival on the scene in the No. 9 spot after a 30-13 walloping of Wisconsin. The Badgers, who dropped from the list.

Mississippi held third, with Navy fourth and Auburn, the only other unbeaten, untied team on the list, in fifth place. Oklahoma was sixth followed by Alabama, Pittsburgh, Michigan State and Ohio State.

With the exception of idle Ala-bama, all will be in action Sat-urday and Royal figures his top-ranked Longhorns face a stiff test in Baylor, led by a top pass-ing combination in quarterback Don Trull and flanker Larry El-kins.

The top ten teams with first-place votes in parentheses and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 ba-sis:

2. Illinois (4)	425
3. Mississippi (1)	343
4. Navy (1)	322
5. Auburn (2)	310
6. Oklahoma	209
7. Alabama	153
8. Pittsburgh	115
9. Michigan State	109

INTRODUCING THE DEPENDABLES FOR '64

We have designs to get you in our power

Our engineers are a wily group of guys who spend most of their time dreaming up ways to win your approval. Take the Dodge Polara 500. You'd be hard-pressed to find a car that's got more going for you. Deeply-padded, contour-formed bucket seats. All-vinyl upholstery. Silt-to-silt carpeting. Padded dash. Center console. And lots of other trimmings. But that's only the half of it.

Perhaps our approach to power will further illustrate the point.

With the Polara 500 you aren't baked in on a certain engine. You can choose from a standard 318 cu. in. V8 up to a street-version of our walloping, all-out 426 cu. in. Ramcharger V8. Compromise? Nope. We just feel that a freedom of choice is the surest road to your approval.

That's our way of doing business—giving you lots of car and lots of satisfaction at a price that's hard to quarrel with.

Your Dodge Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the point.

Liston, Clay To Sign For Title Bout Today

By FRANK PITMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DENVER (AP) — Loud-mouthed Cassius Clay and silent Sonny Liston, the champ, confront each other in a hotel room today to sign a contract for their long-rumored world's heavy-weight championship fight.

Most guessers predicted the two Negroes will fight 15 rounds in Los Angeles next February. The details will be announced at the contract signing scheduled for 4 p.m. EST.

Talkative Cassius blew into town Monday night in his private bus festooned with signs proclaiming: "I'm the greatest" and "Cassius Clay, next heavy-weight champion."

The Louisville, Ky., lip spouted his customary kind words for Liston. "He's too ugly to be world's champion," Clay told reporters. "I'm pretty as a girl."

Liston, dressed like a dude from London's Bond Street, turned up at the Denver airport to meet former champion Joe Louis and his wife, Martha, who planned in from California. Mrs. Louis is a lawyer for Liston, who makes his home in Denver. "I came along just for a free ride," Louis said.

Liston, resplendent in an executive-style gray suit, smart black hat and gold-handled swagger stick, was accompanied by his wife, Geraldine.

Louis predicted Clay would last longer against Liston's sledge hammer fists than Floyd Patterson who lost the title to Liston in the first round at Chicago and absorbed another first round knockout in the rematch at Las Vegas, Nev., last July 22. Liston's record is 35 victories, one loss, no draws and 25 knockouts.

"Clay has a better defensive style and moves better," Louis said. "I don't think he can beat Sonny, but any time two big men meet in the ring anything can happen."

Liston, in a rare mood at the airport, joked with reporters about Clay and said he was prepared "to go 30 rounds—15 running after him and 15 fighting him."

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Country Store

A lady called me tonight to find out if I would be a donor to the blood bank when they come to the Grace Church in Columbiana Friday, Nov. 8th.

When I am around these parts I always give blood, it seems to make me feel better when I do, its probably all in my mind but I guess that is where a lot of our hurts and joys are.

They are looking for donors so if you could make it they sure would be glad to have you.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Appendicitis In Children

Why do we have an appendix? This little blind alley is an offshoot of the junction of the large and small intestines. It may have served a purpose in our prehistoric ancestors, but its main function now is that of occasional trouble-maker.

Dr. Brandstadt are not as common as they were 50 years ago, the disease still occurs. Although it is not as common in persons under 15 years of age as it is in those who are older, it still occurs in young children and infants.

The importance of appendicitis in children lies in the fact that the disease is harder to recognize in children. When appropriate treatment is delayed, serious complications may lead to death.

The reason it is hard to recognize in children and infants is that they cannot communicate their feelings as accurately as adults and their symptoms are much more variable.

FOR EXAMPLE, the infant with appendicitis does not always have a fever or a severe pain in the abdomen. Some abdominal pain, often mild, is almost always present and the child usually vomits at least once. More commonly, the child generally is irritable, restless and refuses to go to sleep. These are vague symptoms, and do not prove that the appendix is to blame.

If your child is irritable, and feeding him makes him worse, you should call your doctor.

I want to stress this because an inflamed appendix can become obstructed and the resulting abscess can burst in less than 24 hours from the onset.

When the appendix bursts, infection spreads throughout the abdominal cavity. The result is peritonitis and this is still a serious and often fatal complication. Although your child's irritability may be only a touch of colic, a cold or the measles, you cannot afford to take a chance.

SINCE FEEDING a child who

MISS TEEN-AGE — Judy Doll, 17, of Akron, Ohio, has been named "Miss Teen-age America 1964" in Dallas, Tex.

has appendicitis can make him worse, he should not be fed. Giving him a laxative is even more dangerous because it causes all the muscles of the digestive tract to contract. Contraction of the muscles of the appendix induced by giving a laxative has caused many an inflamed appendix to burst. If the child has been taking antibiotics for any reason, this may so mask the symptoms as to make an early diagnosis almost impossible.

Because of the potential risks, therefore, surgical removal of the appendix should be undertaken as an emergency as soon as the diagnosis is made.

Appendicitis is definitely less common in children than it was 40 years ago, complications are less commonly seen and the death rate is lower.

Girl Sentenced for Thefts of 3 Cars

LISBON — A 16-year-old East Liverpool girl was given an indefinite term in Girls Industrial School at Delaware Monday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

Nancy Adams was sentenced for the theft of three cars. She was apprehended by the State Highway Patrol near Powhatan Point last Wednesday.

The spree started Oct. 27 when Miss Adams, accompanied by a 15-year-old companion, both wards of Columbiana County, left Kyes Memorial Home in East Palestine and took the 1954 auto owned by Mrs. Pearl M. Southerin, 914 Bacon Ave., a part-time employee of the home.

Miss Adams dropped off the 15-year-old in East Liverpool, and went on to Chester, W. Va., where she picked up her half-sister.

The two abandoned the Southerin auto in Weirton and stole a car owned by Minnie Wilson of Trumbull County and headed south. When the Wilson car stopped in Powhatan Point, the girls took another car owned by Charles Gasser of Clarington but were apprehended shortly afterward by the patrol.

Miss Adams' half-sister was turned over to West Virginia authorities.
